

SOCIAL SERVICES

Associate Degree

The Associate in Social Services is designed to prepare students for careers in social service or community health agencies as paraprofessionals. In addition, because of the large New Mexico Common Core component, the degree also helps prepares the student for a successful transition into a bachelor's program in Social Work or other majors.

S WK 221G is usually offered only in the Spring Semester (on the NMSU-A campus)

Students must earn a grade of C or better in all courses.

* The bachelor degree requirement for foreign language requires a grade of C or better grades through the 212 level in any foreign language. If the student is a native speaker, the requirement is met with 113, 213 and 214 sequence in the language. If the student has taken one or two years of a foreign language in high school they should take the language placement test to determine the level of course in which they should begin. See an advisor.

Students interested in the main campus Bachelor's Degree in Social Work program may also be interested in the Associate in Social Services. Students planning to pursue a Bachelor's Degree in Social Work must apply for the Social Work Program in the beginning of the Spring Semester prior to the Fall Semester they hope to attend. Transition to the S WK major from the Associate Degree in Social Services is not automatic. Procedures for admission as a BSW candidate include 2.5 cumulative GPA; notification to the Dean's Office of their intention to apply; completion of S WK 221G, basic skills, and New Mexico Common Core Requirements; and formal application for admission when nearing completion of 60 credits. The S WK program begins only in the Fall semester. Students (particularly transfer students) should contact the Social Work Advisor in Las Cruces early in their academic career for advising and for the application packets which are available in November each year:

A Human and Community Services Bachelor's Degree is available through the College of Extended Learning. A few of the courses required to complete the bachelor's degree require visits to the main campus; however, most of the classes are offered through electronic media. Information is available in the Advising Office.
